Public Wi-Fi launch at Sandown Park is a hard-hitting success

GGR Communications and The Jockey Club have joined forces once again to provide outstanding Public Wi-Fi to racegoers and bookmakers during Ladies' Day and the Coral-Eclipse meeting. Having designed, installed and managed the Public Wi-Fi at Cheltenham and Newmarket racecourses, GGR and The Jockey Club have a wealth of experience in creating large-scale solutions for events such as this.

Working together for many years, this was another challenging yet enjoyable project for both. With large numbers of attendees and users on each of the days, a lot of hard work and dedication was required to ensure that the Wi-Fi could be accessed from all areas and has the capacity to cope with the high density demand.

GGR Communications & The Jockey Club - providing first-class Public Wi-Fi at another racecourse

“Providing Public Wi-Fi to racegoers, bookmakers, and the businesses at Sandown Park adds another dimension to the first-class experience that The Jockey Club strives to offer. We have a long-standing relationship with GGR and have completed Wi-Fi projects together at several of our other racecourses with great success. We are delighted with the results this weekend and will be implementing a full launch over the coming weeks.”
